Now Actresses Kiss.

"Modjeska kisses in an intellectual fashion. She prefers to be kissed rather than to kiss, and her graceful movements make her an easy person to act with. There is no unnecessary clutching and clawing to hold on to her lover. She rests upon his bosom in a picturesque way that is very pleasing to the eye. Lotta just pecks at a fellow's face, and is liable to strike anywhere between the eyes and the chin. There is a jump, a smack, and that's all. It's the worst kind of a kiss, because it can't be anticipated, and the actor only realizes what it is when it's all over. Clara Morris' teeth have been discolored and depleted by too much medicine, and her mouth is not an inviting one for this reason. There is nothing girlish about her kisses. They are womanly and businesslike. Janussek has very little kissing to do, but she never tires over it when it is to be done. She places her favors on the forehead in a maternal sort of a way, and doesn't appear to elicit too bestow much satisfaction. Sara Jewett, the leading lady of the Union Square Theatre, is said to bestow a kiss as soft as velvet, and has become noted for the grace with which she can pose within a pair of manly arms. Her scenes with Charles R. Thorne were always pretty, because she has about the right relative height to him. Maude Granger's kisses are generally bestowed with her head reclining languidly on the shoulder of her lover and a magnificent pair of arms entwining him. Fanny Davenport is much too large for a man of ordinary stature to look well with her in his arms. She generally assumes the entire responsibility of the kiss. Alice Oates spreads her arms out wide, and goes right for the objective point with a will, and the libal sound is noisy and indelicate. When the kiss is given, a long-drawn sigh, a shake of the head, and perhaps a backward kick indicate her delight. There was an alarming uncertainty about Soldene's kisses which made it a toss-up whether the kisser would have to go on the inside or remain out of doors.

Touching Anecdote of A Spider.

Mr. Mogridge, in his studies in Natural History had been in the habit of immersing, for preservation, his different specimens of spiders and ants in bottles of alcohol. He saw they struggled for a few minutes; but he thought that sensation was soon extinguished, and that they were soon free from suffering. On one occasion he wished to preserve a large female spider and twenty four of her young ones, that he had captured. He put the mother into a bottle of alcohol, and saw that after a few moments she folded up her legs upon her body, and was at rest. He then put into the bottle the young ones, who, of course, manifested acute pain. What was his surprise to see the mother arouse herself from her lethargy, dart around and gather her young ones to her bosom, told her legs over them, again relapse into insensibility, until at last death came to her relief, and the limbs no longer controlled by this maternal instinct, released their grasp! The effect of the exhibition of love is a lesson to our common humanity. He has never since repeated the experiment, but has applied chloroform before immersion.

According to Dr. Edward Smith, in his treatise on "Food," an egg weighing an ounce and three quarters contains 120 grains of carbon and seventeen and three quarters grains of nitrogen, or 15.25 per cent. of nitrogen. The value of one pound of eggs as food for sustaining the active forces of the body, is to the values of one pound of lean beef, as 1584 to 900. As a flesh producer, one pound of eggs is about equal to one pound of beef.

Another "largest telescope in the world" has just been erected. It brings the moon so close that the man can be distinctly heard yelling "Don't shoot."—[Philadelphia News.]

Getting A Stand of Clover.

To guard against the frequent failures in getting a stand of clover, the surest plan in seedling down a field on which wheat has been sown the previous fall is to wait until the ground is well settled the following Spring and all danger of frost is over, and then to sow thereon six quarts of clover and four quarts of timothy seed to the acre. By mixing the seed the timothy in case the clover should kill out, will be there to take its place, and thus there will be neither the loss of the use of the land nor of the double chance of a crop of hay. Immediately after the seed is sown it should be put in with the harrow—one having its teeth set slightly backwards is best—and finished with a heavy roller. This done, it will make the chance of getting a set doubly sure, to sow thereon about one hundred pounds of plaster to the acre. If it is desired to seed a field of oats in clover and timothy, the sowing of the two latter should be deferred until the oats have been put in and dragged and the clover and timothy then sown and put in with the roller—the rolling being of great service, not only to the clover and timothy, but to the oats also—not only not neglecting the use of the plaster, but where the land is light and badly worn, to increase the quantity of plaster to one hundred and fifty pounds to the acre.

Clover, being a feeble seed, should never be covered more than a half inch or so deep. Many farmers sow clover on wheat so early in the spring that on starting to grow it is overtaken by the frosts and killed, and they wonder what has become of the seed, or why it did not "take," and this, too, when they omit sowing the plaster. So that even if the seed does come up all right, it is killed by the hot suns of summer without the plaster to prevent it. We have known many such cases where a little plaster would have saved it.

To get a good stand of clover in a light sandy soil that has been badly worn, is no easy task, but if the above rules are strictly complied with, failure would rarely ever occur.

"Did you ever think," asks a Paris curiosity hunter—

"How many male and female ancestors were required to bring you into the world? First, it was necessary that you should have a father and mother—that makes two human beings. Each of them must also have had a father and mother—that makes four human beings. Each of those four must have had a father and mother—that makes eight human beings. So on we must go back for 56 generations, which would bring us only to the time of Jesus Christ. The calculation thus resulting shows that 130,235,017,489,534,976 births must have taken place in order to bring you into this world!—you, who read these lines."

By this token what an enormous number of men must have emerged from the glacial epoch under the name of Adam!

A philanthropic quack has just died in Cincinnati. He was an educated physician named Kerr, but his only medicine was a cure-all which he called "the Renovator." He made it in vast quantities, but only sold enough to afford him a bare living, giving the most of it away to the poor. It is said to have been a harmless and beneficial tonic, and did injury only when relied upon in dangerous diseases.

The new five cent nickel pieces which are being coined, weigh one millimetre more than the old coins and are a little larger and thinner. On the face of the new coin is a woman's head, surmounted with a fillet, upon which is inscribed the word "Liberty," the whole being surrounded by thirteen stars. The reverse contains a wreath surrounding a Roman numeral representing the denomination of the coin.

The bloodhound of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Company broke loose last week and killed the donkey. The manager in dire distress, had the skin of the donkey removed, and sent an actor on in to impersonate the part, but the fellow, for the first time in his life, failed to make an ass of himself.

A little four-year-old discovered the neighbor's hens in her yard scratching. In a most indignant tone she reported to her mother that Mrs. Smith's hens were "wiping their feet on our grass."

P. M. Pryor, Louisville, says: "After suffering for years with general debility, a single bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters has cured me."

DARBY'S PROPHYLACTIC FLUID.

A Household Article for Universal Family Use.

Eradicates MALARIA.

For Scarlet and Typhoid Fevers, Diphtheria, Sallow, Ulcerated Throat, Small Pox, Measles, and all Contagious Diseases. Persons waiting on the sick should use it freely. Scarlet Fever has never been known to spread where the fluid was used. Yellow Fever has been cured with it after black vomit had taken place. The worst cases of Euphorbia yield to it.

Small-Pox and Pitting of Small Pox PREVENTED. A number of my family was taken with Small-Pox. I used the Fluid; the patient was not dangerous, was not pitted, and was about the house again in three weeks, and no others had it.—J. W. PARKER, Philadelphia.

Diphtheria Prevented. The physicians here used the Fluid. As a disinfectant and successfully in the treatment of Diphtheria. A. STOLLENBERG, Greensboro, Ala.

Scarlott Fever Cured. I used the Fluid during our present affliction with Scarlott Fever, and decided advantage. It is indispensable to the sick-room.—Wm. F. SANDFORD, Elyria, Ala.

Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn. I testify to the most excellent qualities of Prof. Darby's Prophylactic Fluid. As a disinfectant and detergent it is both theoretically and practically superior to any preparation with which I am acquainted.—N. J. LEROY, Prof. Chemistry.

At a dinner party the little son of the hostess was allowed to come down to desert. Having had what his mother thought a sufficiency of fruit, he was told he must not have any more, when to the surprise of every one of the guests, he exclaimed: "If you don't give me some more I'll tell!" A fresh supply was at once furnished him and as soon as finished he repeated his threat, whereupon he was suddenly and swiftly removed from the room, but he had just enough time to convulse the company by exclaiming: "My new trousers are made out of ma's old bed-room curtains!"

The hero of the Milwaukee fire is Herman T. Strauss. The Chicago News says: "This cool headed fellow climbed on to an adjoining building, threw a ladder across the alley separating it from the burning pile, and transferred eleven of the terrified servant girls to the neighboring roof and to safety. He not only called upon them to cross the bridge improvised, but he went into the burning hotel himself, dragged out the senseless girls whom he found half suffocated on the floors of the rooms and carried them safely to the other roof."

THEN AND NOW.—While General Butler was delivering a speech in Boston during the recent campaign one of his hearers cried out, "How about the spoons, Ben?" Benjamin's good eye twinkled merrily as he looked bashfully at the audience and said: "Now, don't mention that, please. I was a republican when I stole the spoons."

Nine tons of postage stamps, 52 tons of envelopes, 113 tons of postal cards, and 17 tons of newspaper wrappers were sold at the New York Post office during 1882. The value of newspaper and periodical stamps sold was $439,802.88, and the total receipts of the office were $1,228,575.29.

Sheep suffer greatly from exposure, and need to be well housed, especially during storms. Throwing fodder on the ground is a wasteful practice. Racks can be made at small cost, and they will more than pay for themselves in a single winter.

Opportunity has hair in front; be hind she is bald. If you seize her by the forehead you may hold her; but if you suffer to escape, not Jupiter himself can catch her again.—[From the Latin.]

"I don't see the use of a machine for hop pressing, do you, William?" said Laura just before embarking in the giddy waltz. William votes that hop a success.—[Boston Star.]

J. G. Owen, Louisville, says: "I have used Brown's Iron Bitters for vertigo and shattered system; am wonderfully pleased with the result."

The Louisville Commercial which has taken occasion recently to say some good things of Judge Owsley, pictures him in this faithful manner: "A tall, slender man, a little stooping, dressed without regard to style, but comfortably and well clothed. He has large features, which are not heavy, keen pleasant eyes, an iron gray beard and wears an old fashioned, broad-brimmed, slate-colored felt hat, which in itself would sweep the mountains like a hurricane. That is how he looks, and in his manner he is attractively unassuming and unaffected. He talks incessantly and he talks entertainingly. Not like a man who wants to hear himself talk, but like a man who is off on a holiday and is full of the lark."

The Livingston Fleming breach of promise case which resulted in a verdict of $75,000 damages to the wronged and ruined woman, has assumed a different aspect. Fleming has secured a stay of proceedings by presenting a lot of letters too filthy for publication, which he claims to have just discovered and which Miss Livingston is said to have written to a carriage driver. They may however after all prove to be forgeries of the meanest sort and we hope Miss Livingston will be able to vindicate herself and show that she was but a trusting maiden, "loving not wisely but too well."

STEPHEN W. DORSEY has resigned as Secretary of the National Republican Committee, much to the regret of that class of his party who believe that a man is only doing the proper part by himself when he steals from the government. It is strange though, that the more decent of the republicans have not demanded his resignation before this, especially since eight out of twelve jurors said he ought to be in the penitentiary for the Star route swindles.

Gov. BLACKBURN says he does not intend to mince matters about protecting Neal and Craft. If the Judge asks for 1,500 men, he will send him 2,000 and more if necessary. The same companies will be sent and Maj. Allen will have the preference in command over any other officer, because he is judicious and the people know he will shoot. He intends to nip any mob spirit in the bud and in that he ought to be supported by all good people.

THE Boston Post seems thankful for small favors. It says "one of the good things that can be said of Mr. Hoar's Presidential succession bill is that, by its provisions, in case of the death or disability of President Arthur there would be five men in the line for the succession, ahead of Wm. E. Chandler—Frelinghuysen, Folger, Lincoln, Brewster and Grandfather Howe—all standing a better show, and in the order named."

COL. SAVAGE, who recently said in a speech that Jeff Davis, Senator Harris and other leading men of the Confederacy ought to have been hung, is perhaps more of that opinion now than ever, since the Senator beat him so ingloriously before the Tennessee Legislature. But Savage can console himself with the thought that if Harris had not been elected, he (S.) never would any way.

If the election of Governor of Kentucky occurred in Washington, Mr. Knott would undoubtedly win the prize, but luckily for his opponents, it does not. All the newspapers and newspaper men there are for him, which is a good sign of his popularity and good standing, but here in Kentucky Judge Owsley appears to be the leading man.

GERHARDT, Mrs. Langtry's swell beau from New York, chased a reporter in Chicago, the other night with a cowhide, because he had published lies on him and the beauty. Freddie is bad medicine as well as a bad speller and the Western reporters had better walk the chalk.

THE extreme silliness of making colonels has just been demonstrated by Gov. Blackburn, who has conferred that dishonor on Lt. Gov. Cantrell's baby, which is hardly old enough to open its eyes. It is a pity to take such advantages of poor, helpless innocents.

A BILL to allow newspapers to be sent free through the mails to actual subscribers, is before Congress. This is most too liberal. The present rates might be reduced half, but there is no clamor among the papers even for that.

SENATOR HARRIS was re-elected by the Tennessee Legislature Tuesday on the first ballot; a distinguished honor to a faithful servant.

THE Chicago Inter-Ocean remarks: It is a singular fact that fat men never commit crime. No fat man was ever hung, and very few are found in the jails and penitentiaries and reformatories throughout the country. The lean and hungry Cassius is the bad man, and the fact is recognized in history as well as in fiction. Who ever saw a fat villain on the stage, or read of one in a novel? "The most desperate of criminals are lean men with light complexions," says a famous detective; "fat men are sometimes arrested for swindling and kindred offences, but never for high-grade crimes." There is a general impression, however, that the most oily rascal in the world is your fat man. The oily quality is, perhaps, what enables him to slip through the meshes of the law.

COMPLAINING of the unprecedented expense of the census taking, the New York Sun says: "It has cost to count the people of the United States rather more than ten cents for every man, woman and child of the fifty millions. The cause of this outrageous extravagance is the departure from the constitutional object of the census. The purpose of an enumeration every tenth year is to afford a basis for apportionment of representatives and taxes. That is all. The fancy features of the census have been tacked on at the instance of theorists with theories to bolster and statisticians hungry for more figures."

A WASHINGTON dispatch says Senator Pendleton's friends say that he is considerably cast down because the passage of his Civil Service Reform Bill is not more favorably received, especially in Ohio. The action of the Ohio democrats in not sustaining his course is a great disappointment to the Senator. He thought that by the passage of the bill his chances for nomination for the presidency at the hands of the democratic party would be greatly enhanced. That he does not get any thing of a boom out of it causes him a good deal of soreness.

If newspapers are any index of the feeling of the State as to Carlisle and Blackburn, the latter has a mighty poor following. Only two have expressed in favor of him, while thirty odd are unequivocally for the former. Blackburn ought to retire from the contest now, while he can do it gracefully. Remaining on the track he can only hurt Carlisle and assist in the election of Randall, or some of the high protectionists.

A COLLEGE of pharmacy for the education of women only has been organized by the Polytechnic Society of Kentucky, and will soon be in active operation. Women are already employed in Louisville as pharmacists, and are giving complete satisfaction to their employers. They are steadily getting their rights and the time is coming when they will walk up to the polls and vote same as any other man.

MR. BECK made a speech against the Tariff Commission Bill in which he showed that instead of reducing the duties which bear most heavily on the people at large, and operate as a bonus to certain classes of manufacturers, it is so artfully constructed in many parts as actually to increase the burden and to put more money in the pockets of those in whose interest it is concocted.

THE Superintendent of the Central Lunatic Asylum, judging alone from his testimony before a court of inquiry looking into the management of the asylum under his charge, is wholly incompetent for the responsible position he holds.—[Glasgow News]. And the same might be said of several other of Gov. Blackburn's appointees.

COL. JONES says when he told that interviewer that Owsley and Knott drank whisky liberally it was under the promise that it should not be published. This explanation should be very satisfactory to the honorable gentlemen.

THE Republican National Committee has decided to fix the representation in their next presidential convention at two delegates for each Senator and two for each representative of a State. This will give Kentucky 26.

THE democrats in the Illinois Legislature have nominated Hon. John M. Palmer for the U. S. Senate, quite an empty honor, when we consider that the body is overwhelmingly republican.

A CINCINNATI paper speaks of Mr. Knott as a candidate for Governor in Kentucky and dubs the illustrious J. Sel Miller, S. Lee Miller. But such is fame.

Gov. Pattison, of Pennsylvania, comes out on the side of the people in his inaugural address. His avoidance of any pomp in assuming the duties of the State is an indication that he doesn't regard the position as intended merely for his own glorification.

John Stroud, accused of murdering a colored man at Central City about a month ago, is under arrest at Paducah. He admitted the killing, and also two others.

—The stockholders of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific Railroad, Cincinnati Southern Division, elected T. T. Goff, Briggs Swift, W. A. Goodman, Otto Block, John Scott, Edgar M. Johnson and Alex. McDonald, Directors for the ensuing year. The first named take the place of Fred Wolfe and Theodore Cook. Otherwise the board is the same as last year.

The new board was organized by the election of John Scott, President and General Manager, Edgar M. Johnson, General Counsel, and M. H. Tatem, Secretary and Treasurer.

BOYLE COUNTY.

Of R. C. Stewart and Wilson Green were probated on Monday. Court of Claims was also in session.

PERSONAL.
Mr. A. W. Wood is critically ill at his rooms over Farmers Bank. Mr. J. B. Fisher, of St. Louis, who has been visiting his father's family, left on Tuesday. Mr. Zinn, who has been Marks' cutter for several years, leaves to day to take a position with Crutcher & Stark at Lexington. Mrs. Alma Smith Rogers, formerly of Richmond, Ky., is visiting Mrs. Jno. Craig. Miss Pink Metcalfe has gone South for the winter. Chas. Cecil and wife have returned from Baltimore. Miss Speed's lecture at Bell Seminary chapel on Friday night was well patronized. Mr. Schuler Davis, aged 70 years, is suffering from severe injuries from a fall.

WAR—WINE.
During the week of prayer—services at Walnut street Methodist church—orators were chosen for each evening with a theme assigned. The most talked of addresses were from lights in the legal circle. Jno. S. VanWinkle on "The Spread of the Christian Religion as a Preventative Against War," and Judge Durham on "Temperance."

FLEECE-DAVIS
Married at the house of the bride, in Boyle county, on Wednesday, 17th, Mr. Joseph W. Fleece to Miss Mary Davis, daughter of Mr. Jackson Davis. Ceremony by Rev. E. M. Green. They left on the noon train for Memphis. The bride wore a traveling suit of deep green cashmere, with broad velvet and hat to match.

OPERETTA.
Under the auspices of the choir of Trinity church, (Episcopal) the operetta "Laila," by Stratton, will be given at the court-house on Friday night next. (20th.) The principal parts are taken by Signorina Anni McAllister and Betty Cragin and lots of girls in the chorus and Edgar Roitts Newlinoski as musical director.

ERRING.
A young man from Hustonville rode rapidly down Main street on Monday, court day, and uttered a rather emphatic howl or so, and when officer Ballard seized his horse he showed an A. J. spirit and with the victor left the spoils. Springing from his horse, he lit running and though a little winding in his gait, made good time, but was overtaken. Just at the jail door his friends interposed and said they would stand good for his fine and he was allowed to go till Tuesday morning. The books at the Police Court show D. & D. (not dead and dumb) Elsie V. Logan $10 cash, Wm. Dodd $5 cash. Ya-a-a.

TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS.
Geo. Laurence, of Danville, has secured a judgment for $10,000 against the City of Cincinnati for injuries received in a fall on the street last April, while attempting to step from a street car while in motion. Mr. Laurence is a poor man and this will be a big lift, if he ever gets the money.

THE TON FISTOL.
Still gives gilt-edged to the small boy. Little George McRoberts, son of Thos. McRoberts, looked down the muzzle of one and the doctor picked the powder and paper wads out of his chin.

HYENAS.
A principal of a female school in giving his girls a lecture on the propriety of letting College boys alone spoke of them as Hyenas. And now night and day the air is filled with — I thought I could give some idea of the sound, but I find that it is unspeakable — Of course that Prof. never intended to confer any distinction, but in this day to be a Hyena, is greater than a turkey or partridge.

LAW AND THE TURNPIKES.
The Sheriff reported to the County Court, the Danville & Hustonville Turnpike road company, D. W. Jones, President, as wilfully failing and refusing to pay its taxes. The act of 1876 provides that corporations shall pay taxes for county purposes on pain of judgment for triple taxes and fine not more than $100. The Court rendered a judgment against the road for the year 1881 triple taxes and a fine of one cent and cost; and required the road property to be listed for 1882, at $300 per mile. This will be adopted as precedent in procedure against other turnpike companies. Nothing will be done in the cases against R. R. Companies till the constitutionality of the act is settled.

The Central Kentucky Medical Association met in the parlors of the Gilcher Hotel, Danville, on Wednesday, 17th inst., at 11 o'clock A. M., with the President, Dr. May, in the chair.

The opening address was read by Dr. J. A. Kinsford, of Lancaster, on "Nerve Stretching as a Therapeutic Measure." The paper was an excellent one, and embodied valuable statistics which tend to show that this surgical maneuver, tho' comparatively new, is destined to be a boon to mankind.

The next paper was a report by the Chairman, of the Section of Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Dr. G. L. Dunlap, of Danville. Therapeutics as a branch of medicine has lately made considerable progress, but we have a faith which inspires the hope that the advances of the past five years will shortly prove but the gentle dropping before the great shower.

Dr. Aftorn reported an interesting case of limited atresia of the os uteri.

Dr. Carpenter presented an essay on "Pneumonia."

Dr. Johnson, of Danville, exhibited a pathological specimen of a spindle celled Sarcoma, recently removed from the axilla of an adult; he also showed two soft phosphatic calculi, which were discovered by post mortem.

Dr. Peyton presented the whole of a Necrosed tibia which was removed from a strumous subject the past July.

The following gentlemen were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, Dr. Steele Bailey, Stanford; V. Pres, Dr. J. L. Price, Burgin, Mercer county; Secretary, Dr. Jno. C. Bogie, Danville; Treasurer, Dr. G. L. Dunlap, Danville.

Thanks are due Dr. Johnston for dining the Assembly. The cuisine was excellent and with gastronomic tastes, harmony prevailed universally among the doctors.

The meeting was interesting and profitable. Besides the individual benefits accruing to the members of a medical organization, a genuine spirit is generated that constantly tends to minimize all that is unprofessional.

coming to the members of a medical organization, a genuine spirit is generated that constantly tends to minimize all that is unprofessional.

Fogg's Ferry.
Old Fellows Hall was crowded from stage to wall last night by a very enthusiastic and intelligent audience, to witness Havlin's company in the picturesque comedy of "Fogg's Ferry." The play went with a boom, the comedy creating roars of laughter, and the other parts of the drama being followed with rapt attention. The steamboat scene proved one of the handsomest climaxes on the stage. Miss Carrie Stuart was very winning and fascinating as "Chipp," and the company was really excellent in the support. Miss Rita Koff, a Covington girl, played Blanche in superb style. She is a beautiful reader, and would make her mark in legitimate drama. Old Fogg, Still Bill and Martha were very funny, and Mother Fogg was exceedingly good. We can safely commend "Fogg's Ferry" wherever it may go, and hope to see it again in Covington.—[Covington Commonwealth].

Garrard County DEPARTMENT.

ROBT. R. WEST, Editor.
LANCASTER.
—The January Term of the Garrard Circuit Court begins Monday. It will also be County Court day.

—Six per cent. will be added to the amount of all accounts due me, not paid before Feb. 1st. Respectfully, J. C. Thompson.

—The largest stock of jewelry, silverware and musical goods of any house in Central Kentucky, at J. C. Thompson's, Lancaster, Ky.

—Mr. J. Wesley West has had his store-room remodeled and repainted, which adds very much to its attractiveness. He has also added to his stock of boots, shoes, &c., a line of dry goods.

—Mr. John W. Miller received a telegram from Washington, D. C. this week, announcing that his case in the Supreme Court of the United States against the National Bank of Lancaster, Ky., had been decided against him.

—Mrs. R. M. Burdett entertained a few of her young lady friends Monday evening. Miss Lella Price will entertain the Musical to-night (Friday.) Mrs. R. H. Batson, of Paint Lick, was visiting her mother near this place the first of the week.

—Married, at the residence of Mr. Wm. McCarty, in this county, Mr. D. C. Pullins, of Paint Lick, to Miss Maggie McCarty; Rev. J. R. Peoples, of the Methodist church performed the ceremony. The young couple have our best wishes for their future prosperity and happiness.

—We are sorry to learn that J. C. Bryant has sold his stock of drugs, &c., in Bryantville, and when he returns from his bridal tour expects to locate in Lexington. Jim is a good business man and will be missed from the county, and more especially from lower Garrard. He sold his stock to Bryant & Ballard, under which firm name the business will be continued.

—The marriage of Mr. J. C. Bryant, of Bryantville, and Miss Mamie Robertson, of Lexington, will take place at the residence of Miss Robertson's mother, No. 53, Hill Street, Lexington, Ky., on the 25th inst. The wedding will be a very quiet affair, only a few of the most intimate friends will be expected. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Mr. Stanbury, of the Episcopal Church. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. Bryant will leave with his bride for a Western tour. Miss Robertson is a relative of Mrs. Judge Owsley, of this place, also of Col. R. A. McGraw, of lower Garrard. She was visiting these relatives last Summer when she took captive the heart of our young friend. Miss Robertson is deservedly popular wherever she is known, and all join in extending to Jim a hearty congratulation on his good fortune in winning so fair a prize. May they both live long and be happy, is our hearty wish.

—The Directors of the Citizens National Bank, closed the trade Tuesday, with Miller & Miller, for the lower room of the building they have just erected. This is the most handsome building in Central Kentucky, and when the room is finished it will be the most elegant banking room in this neck of the woods. The Messrs. Miller are to have the room fitted up. The vault is being built and the work will be pushed rapidly to completion. The gentlemen at the head of this enterprise deserve credit and encouragement from the people of this county. The county is well able to support two banks, and that too, without the interest of one clashing with that of the other. There is no reason why the relations between the two institutions should not be harmonious. We mention this, not that there is now any thing but the most friendly relations, but because we have noticed, that in towns like Lancaster, where rival institutions have sprung up, there is great danger of the rivalry being carried too far, to the injury of all concerned.

—Prof. Irvine concludes he has attained a solution of the question, why it is so hard a matter to make a success of Lancaster Male Academy; and renders that solution: The dear little boys are too pure and good to associate with the larger ones—too contaminating an influence; the dearer little larger boys are too many to endure reproof or correction. He says, that during the last five months every single instance of severe reproof or correction has resulted in the loss of the pupil, save one—that one a charity pupil. However the Professor congratulates himself over having left a respectable number of pupils who know reasonably well how to behave, and who can be reminded, in gentle terms, of their errors. There is room in the academy for more such, but no more room for boys that are too good to be reproofed or punished unless they are too good ever to do wrong. He says that 20 years experience proves to him that pupils committed to his charge can be controlled; but pupils sent to school, and encouraged in their whims by foolishly indulgent parents are uncontrollable. Lancaster Male Academy wants no more.

The report that drummers would be assessed a certain tax in Stanford, beginning with January 1st, is unfounded. The City Council assures us that they have no idea of adopting such a law.

MISS CHARLES STUART, the little beauty who takes the part of "Chip" in Fugate Ferry is said to be one of the most captivating actresses on the stage. See her at the Stanford Opera House on the 25th.

OUR town and county are starting the New Year most commendably so far as observing the law is concerned. Not a single case of lawlessness of any kind has occurred so far and the Jailor's occupation seems almost gone. So mote it always be.

The Railroad Committee is making haste slowly. No steps have been taken to secure the right of way to appoint a man for the purpose, who has done nothing whatever towards it and we understand that he will not. This is too important a matter to let sleep and we hope the Committee will act promptly and at once.

LINCOLN MILLS are now making an extra quality of flour of selected wheat, which they will hereafter sell at the following prices: Patent flour, an extra quality,
$2.75; best family flour $2.40, low grades
$2.00; bolted meal 50c; unbolted meal 45c.
Branch and shipwrecked always on hand.
Orders left at the mill will be attended to promptly.

MR. W. S. HOCKER has purchased the interest of the late J. H. Shanks and he and Mr. S. H. Shanks will continue the mercantile business here under the name of Shanks & Hocker. Mr. Hocker will take charge as soon as he can get a man to fill his place with the Laurel Coal Company and will move his family here, to occupy the property lately purchased by Mr.
Joseph Coffey.

WHEN the Furniture Factory question was being agitated we heard a number of our citizens say that if Mr. John Builder alone was to have control of the establishment, they would insure the requisite amount for its establishment in a very short time. Mr. B. has now sold out, has plenty of money to double his subscription and can be secured for the position if the people are in earnest. He has been with us a number of years and there can be no complaint that they do not know him. The other man need not be in the way.

IN his Kentucky Real Estate Journal, just issued, Mr. W. H. Miller suggests that if the City Council does not proceed to open new streets on the Junction side of town, so that building lots can be obtained for less than a fortune, the appropriation made by the town to secure the shops of the L. & N., at Richmond Junction, will be but a club to knock her own brains out, for unless such streets are opened, a tract of 60 acres of land contiguous to the Junction on the East will be laid off in town lots as soon as the construction of the shops begins. This ought to awaken the Councilmen and it will if they are the progressive men we take them to be.

THE St. Asaph Hotel has been rented by Mr. W. S. Francis, who will take possession February 1st. Mr. Francis has a wide acquaintance, which, together with his determination to run a first-class house eral patronage.

THE Theatrical event of the season in Stanford, will be the performance of Fugate Ferry, on the evening of January 25th. It is seldom that so good a Company appears in the smaller towns and we hope that our people will embrace the chance to see something really first-class.

COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY R. C. Warren has returned from the Rockcastle Court, where but little was done owing to the failure of the officers to serve processes.
The sheriff resigned in December and the office was vacant for some time, which accounts for that failure. He says a few more such courts would break him.

REV. J. A. BOGLE.—The following which we received yesterday will be as sincerely regretted by the readers of the INTERIOR JOURNAL as ourselves and we shall endeavor to get him to change his determination. He has been a correspondent for it ever since the paper was started and in its excellent corps of writers, none have been more faithful and obliging than he. Bidden as I am by daily cares, secluded from the haunts of men and marts of trade, and bored by the inefficiency of the mail, it is utterly impossible for me to be regular as a correspondent. Reluctantly, therefore, I ask you to put this work into hands more reliable. With thanks for your many courtesies and wishes for your continued success, I am as ever yours, J. A.
Bogle.

FARMS BY THE HUNDRED.—Messrs.
Francis & Miller, Real Estate and Emigration Agents, advertise a hundred farms for sale in this issue, embracing the best bluegrass to the cheapest mountain lands. We do not suppose there ever was a time in this section when a purchaser had so varied a list from which to make a selection, nor a list which covers so much territory. The farmer, the stock raiser, the dairyman, the fruit raiser, the wine maker, the distiller, the coal miner, the timber dealer, each and all can find pleasant homes for the prosecution of such industries by examining the list and conferring with the agents, who are not only responsible men but clever ones to do business with. Their sales last year amounted to over $100,000 and it was the first of their existence as a firm. Parties in other States desiring to come and look at their lands with a view to purchasing can be furnished the lowest railroad rates by application to them at Stanford.

CHAS. ORRHEAD, KY, Jan. 17, 1893.
Editor Interior Journal:

Please allow me through your columns to return to my friends of the East End, my sincere thanks for the very flattering call upon me to become a candidate for the next Legislature; and also to friends of Stanford and other parts of the county who have offered me their support should I become a candidate. My interests at home will require my undivided attention at present, and in justice to myself and family, I must most respectfully decline.

PUTS AND CALLS.

Mrs. Breezy, Fuzzed and Curious, Demands an Explanation.
(From the Brooklyn Eagle.)

"I believe you have gambled in Wall street, Mr. Breezy," said Mrs. Breezy, helping her lord and master to a cup of coffee.

"I have speculated a little in stocks, dear, if that's what you mean," said Mr. Breezy, unfolding his napkin.

"Same thing," said Mrs. Breezy; "you can call it speculation; I know it's gambling. How do they do it, anyway? I read about puts and calls and straddles, and buy a three's, but I never can make any head or tail out of it. I suppose it's all some horrid slang you men have invented."

"Well, no, dear," said Mr. Breezy, helping his better two-thirds to a chop, "it isn't exactly slang. You see, for instance, I buy a hundred short—"

"You do what?" cried Mrs. Breezy.

"I buy a hundred short," repeated Mr. Breezy.

"Well, what in the name of common sense do you mean by that?" asked Mrs. Breezy. "Why don't you talk United States—I mean English? You buy a hundred short, and what has short got to do with it?"

"If you will give me time I will explain, my dear," said Mr. Breezy. "You see if a man is long on stock he is—"

"Long on stock?" said Mrs. Breezy.

"Now, what are you getting to? First you are short and then you are long. What does a man want to get on a stock for, anyway?"

"My dear, if you will allow me—"

"To be sure, go ahead. Tell me something about Wall street, but don't talk nonsense," said Mrs. Breezy.

"Well, my dear, we will suppose that I have a put on Washab, and—"

"There you go again," said Mrs. Breezy. "Will you or will you not talk in a language I can understand? What is Washab, anyway? I suppose it is another slang term?"

"No, that's a stock," said Mr. Breezy; "you see, dear, if I have a call on Washab or Northwestern—"

"If you call on the Northwest?" cried Mrs. Breezy; "are you really going mad, Mr. Breezy? Well, I might expect as much from the life you have led recently. What with clubs and politics, you are going headlong to some terrible fate."

"My dear, it will be impossible for me to explain anything unless you will give me five minutes to do it in," said Mr. Breezy, with unusual warmth.

"Now, at the beginning of this week Omaha preferred started at 106 1/2 and 105—"

"Omaha preferred?" asked Mrs. Breezy. "What is preferred? Who preferred it? What has Omaha got to do with New York and Wall street anyway, and what do you mean by 106 1/2?"

"I shall have to give it up," said Mr. Breezy in a despairing voice.

"No, Mr. Breezy, I have started out to know something about Wall street, and I won't allow you to get out of it in that way," said Mrs. Breezy, setting herself more firmly in her chair.

"Now, Mr. Breezy, you will please drop along and come to something I can understand. For instance, what is a bull-bear?"

"Ha, ha, ha-oh!" laughed Mr. Breezy.

"What do you mean by laughing at me, Mr. Breezy? I'm sure I—"

"Ho, ho, ha-oh!" and Mr. Breezy fairly doubled up with laughter.

"Mr. Breezy, you haven't the manners of a savage," cried Mrs. Breezy, pushing back her chair, "and I don't believe you know any more about Wall street than a two-weeks' old baby," and Mrs. Breezy made Hazel time to the kitchen to take revenge upon the cook.

THE ENGLISH PAPER TAX.

At the time I commenced the Journal the duty on paper paid by the manufacturer was 3d per pound weight, which formed a serious burden on every sort of publication. About 1840 publishers generally began to make earnest efforts to get rid of this tax, which pressed with special cruelty on the cheaper class of works. In this movement, which on a lesser scale resembled the Corn-law agitation, I took a somewhat conspicuous part. The "Miscellany of Useful and Entertaining Tracts," issued by W. & R. Chambers, and which extended to 20-shilling volumes, with a circulation of 80,000 copies, was absolutely choked to death by the tax. The anticipated profits on the work were literally nothing, for the whole had been absorbed by the duties on paper. The Government, with no trouble or risk, having got all the profits on this popular little work, it was given up. Cases of this kind were impressed upon the attention of the Legislature. Mr. Milner Gibson, member of Parliament, zealously helped the movement, which was at length successful. The repeal of the paper duty took effect on Oct. 1, 1861. Already, in 1863, the advertisement duty, 18d each, had been removed; and in 1865 the newspaper stamp was abolished; wherefore, with the abolition of the paper duty, 1861, the press in all its departments was set thoroughly free from fiscal exactions. In these few facts young people will learn how newspapers have been so wonderfully cheapened and extended in circulation.—W. Chambers, in Chambers's Journal.

This population of the United States has increased 17,000,000 since the close of the civil war.

MORPHOMANIA.

A New Horror Inadvertently Created by Science.
(From the London Truth.)

When physicians discovered that pain could be subdued by inserting under the skin a small pointed instrument provided with a little tube containing morphia, they little thought that they were paving the way for a new vice. Yet so it was. There are, in our merry England, beings who are as wholly under the domination of morphia as ever were Chinese under that of opium. Women have yielded by degrees to its fatal fascination, until at last they prick the skin a dozen times a day with the tiny syringe that has such terrible results. The operation is almost painless; the immediate effects pleasant. A delicious languor supervenes. Happy thoughts and bright imaginations fill the mind. Some see beautiful visions, others feel only a pervading sensation of comfort and well-being. On a few the effect of morphia is to excite to some intellectual effort, if effort that can be called, which is pure delight, a glorious feeling of untrammelled power or uncrippled exercise of the highest faculties. It is as though the mind had suddenly developed wings. But at the very height of the enchantment the influence of morphia begins to subside. The glory fades. The wings trail, and the feet that are their sorry substitutes become weighted as with lead. As with the workers, so with the dreamers. The visions are obscured. The sensation of comfort gives place to one of discomfort, irritation, even pain. The mental vision that had just now looked through a rosy mist sees all things as through a craze veil or a November fog. Can it be wondered at that the dose is renewed, that the poison is absorbed again and again, that the intervals become shorter and shorter between the reign of the potent drug?

And the end? The punishment is terrible indeed. By degrees the mind becomes darkened. Hideous hallucinations seize upon it. Self-control is lost. Imbecility overtakes the weak. Madness threatens the strong.

These are the personal consequences. There are others that bequeathed to sons and daughters, and later generations. These can be guessed at. The new vice has not reigned sufficiently long for the world to have seen them exemplified, but a dark array of possibilities suggests itself too readily. The heritage of insanity, of imbecility, with its future to be traced back to those tiny tubes which hold a drop or two, and to which men looked as to a blessed means of relieving pain, forgetting that blessings and curses go hand in hand in a crooked world. Dipsomania has now a powerful rival, speedier in its results than its own revolting process, and, eventually, as degrading. The name of the latter born sister fiend is Morphomania.

MEXICAN JAILS.

In the department of jails there is a deficiency. As at present arranged they can present but moderate terrors to evildoers. The really fine penitentiary at Guadalajara is the only one in which modern ideas of penal discipline are followed. There is by law no death penalty. The number of the most nefarious criminals is kept down by semi-official lynchings—as the shooting of certain kinds of offenders on capture—into which nobody ever inquires, and by transportation to Yucatan; but there still remain sufficient to make one look with uneasiness on the slightest of the means of restraint employed. The bolts and bars are only lattices of wood much more often than iron. At the great central prison of Belen, where some 2,000 persons are confined, it seemed to me that a very large portion of them were more comfortable than they could have been in their own squalid homes. They make a strange spectacle indeed as one looks down upon them in large courts, of what again has once been an old convent, where, of all ages, and for sentences of all durations, they eat, sleep and work at various light occupations together. No attempt is made to prevent their communicating with one another, or staring about. They have good air, light and food, and are paid a part of their earnings. They take their siestas at noon, play at checkers, gossip and even bathe luxuriously in a central tank.—W. H. Bishop, in Harper's Magazine.

SCARCITY OF LABOR IN FRANCE.

While in Germany tens of thousands are emigrating from want of work, in certain parts of France land under cultivation is lying waste from want of hands to do the labor. In the Cote d'Or the price of manual labor is so excessive that farm lands, and even, so we are assured, vineyards, are for the time being uncultivated, so great is the difficulty of procuring day-laborers. There is, moreover, great repugnance felt to the work in the vineyards on account of its laboriousness, and only those trained to it from youth upward can skillfully manipulate the vines. Early and late the laborers must be at their post, and, as higher pay to be had in the towns, all who can avoid it prefer handicrafts. Another effect of the dearth and scarcity of manual labor is the reluctance of French capitalists to invest their spare capita in land. On the other hand, house property in towns is a favorite investment, the value in rising towns increasing every year. Building ground a few years ago of small worth is now a little fortune to its owner, and almost everywhere building is actively going on.

Devote each day to the object when in time, and the evening will find something done.

THE meekest may subdue the strongest foe, if he will keep his place and do his duty.

A RASH PROMISE.

A local editor had printed an article severely reflecting upon a prominent citizen of the place, who vowed that he would take summary vengeance upon the man of types, bought a horse-whip and proceeded to the hotel, where the editor was boarding on a big advertisement. Here he inquired for the object of his fury, and was shown to his room, where he found the editor in bed.

"Are you the author of this paragraph?" said the avenger, drawing the paper from his pocket and the horse-whip from under his overcoat.

"I am," replied the editor, turning over, so as to get a better grasp of the situation.

"Well, sir, I have come to settle this matter with you, sir," shouted the avenger.

"Office hours from 6 a. m. to 12 p. m.," replied the editor, yawning; "but, if you prefer to do business here, how do you propose to settle it?"

"By giving you a horse-whipping," cried the avenger.

"What!" exclaimed the editor; "surely, you will not commit a raffish attack upon a man in my situation—half-dressed, half-asleep! You must be a coward to take such an advantage."

"No, sir," retorted the avenger; "I am no coward, sir. I ask no advantage, and will take none. I shall not strike you, sir, until you get out of bed, and dress and defend yourself."

"Then," said the editor, wrapping the blankets around him, "I guess you'll have to wait a spell. I'm game to stay here till next week, anyhow—and longer, if I can get a supply of writing materials. Sit right down, and tell us the news."

There was an appeal to the Revised Version, and the avenger stalked off unheeded.

ONE OF MARK TWAIN'S INNOCENTS.

Many of our readers will easily call to mind the droll Doctor who was with Mark Twain in the Holy Land, and who made the droll remarks on the Egyptian mummy, asking if it was dead, and what he died of, etc. Few know, however, that the genuine Doctor referred to by Mr. Clemens is as droll and even more so than depicted by the humorist. Dr. A. Reeves Jackson, the man who asked which was Columbus and which was the bust, now resides in Chicago, where he practices medicine. He is better than a comedy when in the vein, and can carry on a conversation without moving a muscle of his face, while making statements that would lead the unacquainted to believe that he hadn't sense enough to come in out of the rain.

Having met and conversed with Dr. Jackson, we can easily imagine the earnest and guileless manner in which he conversed with the guide, and how he succeeded in convincing the total stranger that an American boy who couldn't write better than Columbus would be choked to death and thrown into the moaning sea.

Dr. Jackson is about 55, portly and good-natured, and many who know him say that the wonderful popularity of "The Innocents Abroad" is due to his fresh and natural humor.—Laramie Boomerang.

TRUE Temperance

Is not signing a pledge or taking a solemn oath that cannot be kept, because of the non-removal of the cause—liquor. The way to make a man temperate is to kill the desire for those dreadful artificial stimulants that carry so many bright intellects to premature graves, and desolation, strife and unhappiness into so many families.

It is said that BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, a true non-alcoholic tonic, made in Baltimore, Md., by the Brown Chemical Company, who are old druggists and in every particular reliable, will, by removing the craving appetite of the drunkard, and by curing the nervousness, weakness, and general ill health resulting from intemperance, do more to promote temperance, in the strictest sense than any other means now known.

It is a well authenticated fact that many medicines, especially bitters, are nothing but cheap whiskey vilely concocted for use in local option countries. Such is not the case with BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. It is a medicine, a cure for weakness and decay in the nervous, muscular, and digestive organs of the body, producing good, rich blood, health and strength. Try one bottle. Price $1.00.
